DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 2, 6-11 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Parks U.S. Pat. No. 4,685,901.

Parks discloses a feeding and aspirating tube assembly comprising: a first outer aspirating tube (50); a second inner feeding tube (51); wherein the second inner feeding tube is removably disposed inside the first outer aspirating tube (fig. 6); as to claim 2, (fig. 6); as to claims 7, 8, 9, (fig. 6); as to claims 10 and 11, (col. 3); as to claims 12-14, under the principles of inherency, if a prior art device, in its normal and usual operation, would necessarily perform the method claimed, then the method claimed will be considered to be anticipated by the prior art device.

Parks discloses a feeding tube assembly substantially as claimed except that it is silent at to the distal end of the inner tube being in a range from approximately 2 cm to approximately 4 cm from a distal end of the outer tube. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to vary the lengths of both tubes, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in size (lengths) of a component. A change in size (lengths) is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1995). As to claims 4-6, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to vary the distance of the openings relative to the distal end of the outer tube, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the location of the holes. A change in location of the holes is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art.

As to claim 15, see above rejection.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 2 and 4-15 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

In terms of the lengths, applicant has not disclosed in the specifications that the various lengths provides an advantage, is used for a particular purpose, or solves a stated problem in the art. One of ordinary skill in the art, furthermore, would have expected Applicant invention to perform equally well with the device taught by Parks. Basically, applicant's length lacks criticality.

As to the alleged lightly regarded removably disposed limitation, it is clearly taught in Parks (col. 4).

As to claim 15, any hollow tube is an aspiration tube or feeding tube or whatever can conceivably pass through the tube is the tube. Simply a tube is a tube! Applicant's tube has NO structure.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 12-14 are allowable over the prior art of record.
